

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and composition for treating a patient suffering from a disease, disorder or condition include the administration to the patient of a therapeutically effective amount of a combination of at least two neurotoxins selected from a group consisting of botulinum toxin types A, B, C, D, E, F and G. The amount of each selected neurotoxin administered is further selected to control a duration of therapeutic activity of the administered combination.

5

10

TOEHO-TESHO